

A whole world of good reading

Slightly Foxed

PUBLISHED 1 MARCH 2018

Slightly Foxed Issue 57

Jane Ridley meets the Queen • Derek Parker socializes with Eddie Marsh • Amanda Theunissen joins the quest for Kim • Richard Holloway finds redemption in art • Penelope Lively hears voices from the past • Anthony Wells continues his search for lost time • Laura Freeman discovers the tragedy behind the work of A. A. Milne • Michael Leapman sticks up (and sits down) for George Bernard Shaw • Anthony Longden moves to a very queer parish • Ariane Bankes snaps up something wholesale

UK £11 per issue or £40 per annual subscription inc. p&p
Overseas £13 per issue or £48 per annual subscription inc. p&p

Cover: Luke Martineau, Westminster, Afternoon Light (detail)

Published 1 March • 96 pages • Illustrated throughout • Full digital archive
Gift subscriptions and all 56 back issues available • Worldwide shipping

'A great gift for bookish friends' Gretchen Rubin, *The Happiness Project

Slightly Foxed is a beautifully printed magazine for booklovers who don't feel at home in the here-today-and-gone-tomorrow world of overnight publishing sensations and over-hyped new books. Slightly Foxed offers a calming alternative, opening the door to a world of interesting and often forgotten books they're unlikely to read about anywhere else. Informal, companionable and elegantly produced, it draws its contributors from many different walks of life – some well-known in the literary world, some not – but what they all have in common is the ability to write personally and entertainingly about books they love and return to. A subscription also brings with it a membership card offering various benefits such as reduced prices on our limited-edition books, special membership fees for a number of literary clubs and organizations and reductions on all things Slightly Foxed.

For more information, a list of partners and offers, to discuss extracts or to arrange interviews, please contact Jennie Harrison Bunning: press@foxedquarterly.com 020 7729 9368; +44 20 7729 9368

Slightly Foxed Ltd, 53 Hoxton Square, London N1 6PB, United Kingdom
Online shop: www.foxedquarterly.com • Find us on social media: @foxedquarterly

